

DELEGATE REGISTRATION IS OPEN: AIT Conference 2024

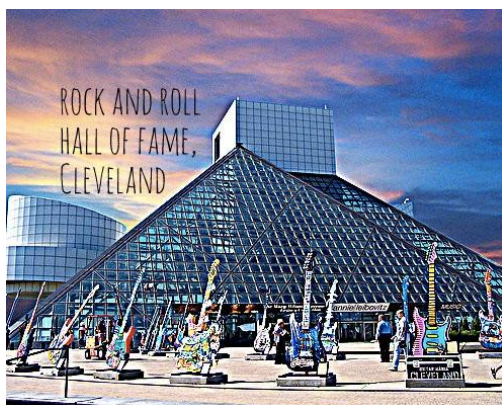

“Inhalation Toxicology Rocks”

The Association of Inhalation Toxicologists (AIT) conference will take place on Tuesday 17th to Thursday 19th September 2024 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel at the Arcade in Cleveland, Ohio, USA. There is also an opportunity to visit the Charles River Laboratory site in Ashland, Ohio on Monday 16th September 2024 (for approximately 60 people, full details to be confirmed).

Attending this conference will commence/renew your AIT membership for the next 3 years and allow free access during your membership to the secure members area of the AIT website to view the recorded webinars and PDF presentations held there from the previous year.

The exciting 2024 scientific agenda includes topics on:

- New Approach Technologies (NAMs)
- Inhaled biologics/proteins
- Inhalation gene expression and cell therapeutics/biomarkers
- Intranasal dosing
- Aerosol generation in-vivo/in-vitro/novel methods and aerosol sampling
- Wildfires and smoke inhalation toxicology
- Plus others in the planning phase (the topics are subject to change depending on speaker availability).
- Time will be dedicated for posters to be manned for questions (if you would like to bring a poster with you then please let me know at aitoxicology@gmail.com).
- Time will be made to meet the exhibitors.
- There will be ample time to network.

AIT Bursary Opportunity for Early Career Inhalation Toxicologists.

There is one bursary available of £500 to help towards the cost of travel and registration to attend the AIT in-person conference. In addition, if the successful applicant is not already a member of the AIT, they will also receive 3 years free membership of the AIT to enable them to access previous conference documents and webinar recordings held in the members area of the AIT website.

Applications are welcome at any time from interested members and non-members of the AIT. The awarding of funding will be at the discretion of the AIT Committee.

Priority will be given to individuals working within an “early career” environment, for example, MSc/PhD students, researchers studying/working within a relevant scientific field, or technicians at a recognised institution working towards a professional qualification or gaining more experience within the field of inhalation toxicology.

All applications must be made by email to the AIT at aitoxicology@gmail.com.

Applications will be assessed by the AIT committee on merit. Priority may be given to candidates who have submitted poster abstracts to the meeting.

Criteria for application:

The applicant must submit a brief description of the relevance of the meeting to their training or career needs and provide the following information:

- A brief CV.
- A letter of recommendation from a supervisor or senior colleague (in lieu of recommendation from an AIT member, if unavailable).
- Details of alternative funding that they will receive for the meeting (the bursary will be paid following completion of the conference).
- Up to 3 suggestions for future educational activities/topics that would be helpful to their training.
- If applicable, a poster abstract.

Following the meeting and prior to receipt of the bursary funds the successful applicants must submit:

- A short article (approximately 500 words) describing their own research, a brief overview of the meeting, or a description of how the meeting has contributed to their training/professional knowledge (this may appear in the members-only section of the AIT website).
- An expense claim including receipts for expenses incurred in relation to the meeting (travel/registration).

By applying for the bursary, all applicants consent to their details being added to the AIT mailing list and will automatically receive information on other events when it becomes available. Details will not be passed on to any other organisation without written permission.

The AIT is looking forward to seeing you at our conference in Cleveland, Ohio in September 2024!
